Whose duty is it to see that all Acts & Regulations in force in Myanmar are stocked in the Govt Book Depot and made available for sale to the public, and to replenish
the stock from time to time
as it becomes exhausted?
The Curator of the Book Depot deems it right that it is not his duty, and the result is that Candidates for Semi-Govt examinations
& the public generally
cannot get the Regulations, & the only answer they get from the Curator is that What is wanted is "out of stock" or "not in stock"!

The Office is not aware of any specific order on the point. It is usual to ask the Superintendent Govt. Press to send some copies of every regulation passed, to the curator the number to be so sent in each case being mentioned in the order for publishing the Regn. The curator has evidently to ask for and get his stock replenished now and then, as no one else will be in a position to know if copies are exhausted or not in the Book Depot. This may be sent to Br. II also for note

Perhaps the best course would be for the ~~Council~~ Curator to ask for a fresh supply of books when his stock is about to be exhausted. He can ascertain the probable number required on Consultation

Govt. Central Book Depot

Bangalore, 21st February 1911.

Dear Sir,

In reply to your D.O. letter No. J 2373 dated the 18th instant I beg to forward herewith a list of books which have been prescribed for the Mysore Local Service and Pleaders Examinations but which are not available at the Central Book Depot. Candidates who have been applying for these books have been told that the books are not available. As regards your question why these books have not been either obtained from the Secretariat or from the Superintendent Govt. Press I beg to inform you that with the exception of books which have been prescribed for use in the Govt. and aided schools by the Educational Department I have not been in the habit of applying for books which do not come under that category and all the official publications of which a list is published in the official Gazette have been sent to me for sale from time to time by the Departments concerned without my applying for them. I have received no orders from the Inspector General of Education or from the Secretariat that I should keep a stock of all such books which are published by Govt. Nevertheless whenever I have received orders from the Secretariat to supply official publications such as codes, Regulations &c to the officers of the state and Heads of Departments I have uniformly reported to the Secretary after supplying available books that such and such a publication is not available. I beg to quote for reference that in my No. $\frac{647}{353}$ dated 19th September 1910 I have informed you that copies of Service Regulations are not available. If orders are given and I am informed from time to time that such and such official publications are to be kept in stock I shall be glad to comply with the orders and will send my requisitions to the Secretary or the Superintendent Govt. Press to furnish me with copies of such publications and replenish my stock from time to time when any book is exhausted.

(2) In this connection I beg to bring to your notice that as the case now stands official publications are sent to me by the Superintendent Govt. Press without any intimation in the shape of an invoice or a docket and without telling me the price per copy by simply entering the name of the publication and the No. sent in a delivery book. These publications, some of them are sent to me by hundreds while I am hardly able to sell a single copy of the same in a year. If all the official publications that are sent to me for sale do contain the price marked on them this will save me a good deal of unnecessary correspondence. I have to make one more request that when official publications are sent, a limited number of them may be sent for sale in accordance with the utility and importance of the publication.

(3) In conclusion I beg that you will be good enough to send me a copy of Govt. Proceedings In. G. 2070-107/G. F. 143-03-04 dated the 13th October 1904 of which a reference is made in your letter under reply.

Yours obediently
[illegible]

No. G. 5232-80—G. M. 61-10-13, DATED BANGALORE, 16TH MARCH 1911.

ORDER THEREON.—It has been brought to the notice of Government that some of the Acts, Regulations and Rules issued by Government have not been stocked in the Book Depot and that copies of several such publications are not readily available to meet the demands of the public in general and more particularly of candidates for the Local Service and Pleaders' Examinations and that the Curator does not consider it his duty to obtain copies of such publications when there is a requisition on him for the same but is satisfied by merely informing the applicant that the publication required is not available from him. This is irregular and to obviate public inconvenience, the Government are pleased to issue the following specific instructions for attention:—

1. It is the duty of the Curator to see that a sufficient number of copies of all Acts, Regulations and Rules are kept in stock and that the stock is replenished as found necessary, from time to time by indenting for copies of the publications required on the Officers concerned, namely, the Comptroller to Government in the case of the Mysore Service Regulations and other publications issued by him, the Secretary to Government, General and Revenue Departments, in the case of Acts, Regulations and Rules, and in the case of other publications, the Heads of Departments issuing such publications. The indent should be in the form appended.

2. The Superintendent, Government Press, should arrange for the price of every official publication being printed thereon as required in the Government Order dated 9th February 1907 read above.

3. Heads of Departments and Secretaries to Government should see that whenever the Government Press is asked to send copies of official publications to the Book Depot for sale, a copy of the intimation sent to the Press is simultaneously forwarded to the Curator and that only as many copies are sent for sale as may be necessary, having regard to the importance of, and the probable demand for the publication concerned; additional copies being forwarded only on the Curator's indent for the same. From time to time, the Curator should return to the Department concerned, copies of publications of which there is a large unsold stock, keeping only a few copies to meet a possible demand. These Heads of Departments in general and the Inspector-General of Education and the Secretary to the Board of Examinations in particular, should frequently ascertain by test enquiries that all the books prescribed for public examinations are available for purchase at the Book Depot.

4. The Curator should take immediate steps as directed above to replenish his stock of books for which there is any demand at present.
